

A cheery group of community gardeners gathered at the garden in early December for the final gardening session of the year. The group planted spring bulbs and raspberries and harvested chard, beetroot and Chinese radishes to share before eating festive mince pies.

Good news for the community garden for 2012. The garden group has been awarded funds from the Lee Green Assembly Mayor's Fund for a higher planter, potting tables, seeds & tools.

Your feedback is welcome

Please give the garden group committee your feedback about the first growing year at the community garden. We would like to know what you liked, what you think needs improving, suggestions for fruit and vegetable crops to be grown and/or activities that you'd like to see happen next year and any other comments are all welcome. Please email to: leemanorcg@gmail.com

The community garden participated in the Leegate Community Art Project that was unveiled recently by Heidi Alexander MP. Please go along to Leegate to view the art boards created by local groups that form a colourful mural on the hoarding outside the old Sue Ryder shop. The LMCG art board called "In the edible garden". Thank you to gardeners turned artists Joyce, Lily and family and Luke and Jamie for their vegetable and insect inspired artworks.
